Reading at Carterhatch

Claire Newton and Amy Fry
Deputy Headteachers

Assessing our pupils

- 1) the ability to decode and recognise printed words, 'What ARE the words?'
- 2) the ability to comprehend the spoken language, 'What do the words MEAN?'.

Decoding - Phonics First No Nonsense Phonics

‘Systematic Synthetic Phonics’ programmes are all based on teaching the letter/s-sound correspondences (letter/s-sound links) of the English alphabetic code. They teach ‘all-through-the-word’ phonics skills of ‘sounding out and blending’ for reading (decoding) and ‘oral segmenting’ (splitting up the spoken word followed by allotting letters or letter groups) for spelling (encoding).

No Nonsense Phonics Skills

The programme is based on the Five Pillars of Literacy model informed by research:

Phonemic awareness	Develop awareness of the smallest sounds in speech (PA)
Phonics knowledge	Teach the alphabetic code and phonics skills explicitly and systematically (includes PA)
Vocabulary	Teach new words explicitly to enrich vocabulary
Reading fluency	Provide ample repetition and repeat reading
Comprehension	Oral comprehension (spoken language) and reading comprehension of how to interpret literature

Reading is an action sport!

- Reading is an action sport. The action takes place in our minds.
- When we read it's not enough to read the words correctly (decode). As we read the words, the meaning does not automatically jump into our heads!
- We have to read the words and build meaning, a bit like constructing a model.

As we read, we ask questions, make predictions and watch out if we are right or whether we have to change our views....

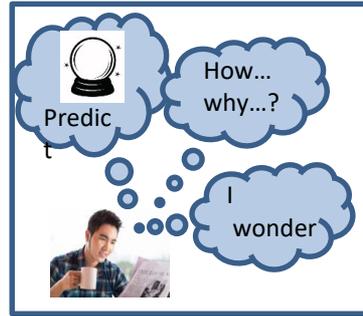

Strategies to help us understand and enjoy reading.

As we read we

Use our background knowledge and connect to text

Predict, ask questions, and read on to find out...

Visualise

Think like a detective-use inference

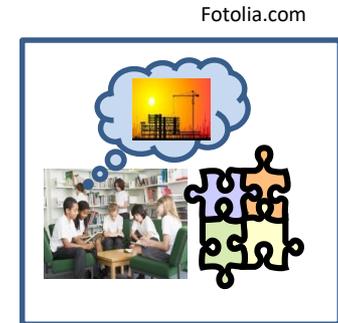

Notice meaning breakdown...

...and repair it

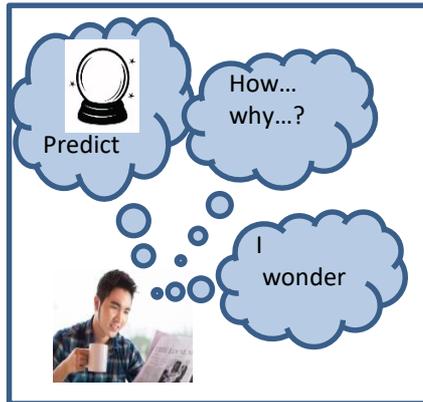

Watch out for VIP words/ phrases/ideas..

...and put together to build GIST

Predictions from the title

Often as we read, thoughts pop into our mind. A plot starts and we might predict what is going to happen next. A character does something and we ask ourselves a question. Maybe our question is answered later on. Even a title in a newspaper may make us ask questions or go... “I wonder...”.

‘A Nasty surprise’

All Change, by Abby Davidson

"Goodbye life," thought Abby as she looked down from her bedroom window. Opposite, at the bus stop, everyone was there. All the usual crowd, messing about. An inner voice screamed, "This isn't right! You should be with them, waiting for the bus." Abby felt a sharp pang as she saw Becky, her best friend, laughing and joking with Chloe.

Inside her room, Freddie looked down at Abby sympathetically, paws on top of a pile of suitcases and boxes. "Goodbye life." Abby felt like kneeling down in front of her Mum and pleading, "Let's not do this because my life will be over."

Focus :

- visualise
- make predictions/ask questions
- check meaning

Bird Boy

by Kate aged 14 based on I never Knew your Name by Sherry Garland

People said what a shame it had happened. He had always been alone. They called him the bird boy. He hid from people and shivered at the thought of being near crowds of people.

Always alone on the top of roofs of flats - that was his habitat, night and day.

Up there he was happy, the air and the altitude all around him nearly touching the clouds. Humans below him were the size of full stops.

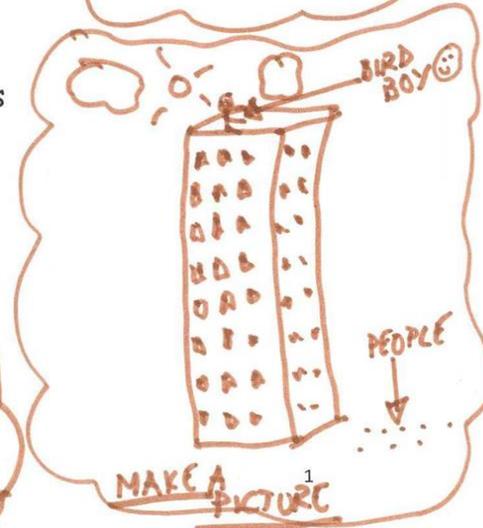

Then another day dawned. The flashing lights of the ambulance. The passer by too shocked to speak. The grim faces of the ambulance crew. People said what a shame it had happened.

Story will end unhappily

CHECK MEANING

At first I thought it was cold but I re-read and it was crowds that made Bird Boy shiver

Good readers spot meaning breakdown and try to fix it

Here's 5 things to try...

1. Go back 2 or 3 sentences and re-read and collect clues from the words around. Try to connect the hard part to the bit that came before. Use background knowledge and think like a detective.

2. Make pictures in your mind and re-read the hard bit. Your mind pictures may make things clear.

3. Look at the key words in the sentence to help you understand. The key words will be packed with meaning.

4. Read back a bit and read on a bit. Look at key words, make pictures and think like a detective

4. If it's a single unfamiliar word, ask yourself ...what do I know about it?
Is it like a word I know? Is it a noun, verb or adjective?

How to view e-books that have been read – Years 3-6

Look again allows the pupil to view up to the last ten e-books that they have completed, which means they can revisit favourite e-books and have another go at the quizzes. This area also helps further motivate pupils by showing a running total of the number of e-books that they have completed.

a This shows the last ten e-books that the child has completed. Only five e-books will show on the screen at a time, but the arrow buttons can be used to scroll through the e-books. The pupil can reread the e-book by clicking on the book cover. The Bug Club hotspots will be 're-opened' to allow the pupil to have another go at the quizzes, although no more Bug Points will be generated for a re-play, and these scores are not fed through for your reporting.

b The totaliser shows how many e-books the pupil has completed since starting Bug Club.

c Click the envelope button to view the comprehension questions, the answer given and feedback from the teacher.

The screenshot displays the 'Look again' interface. At the top, it says 'Hello Bruce' and has a 'Logout' button. The main area is titled 'Look again' and shows a row of five e-book covers: 'Paradise Island', 'Lost in Egypt', 'Fully Sick', 'Fully Gorgeous', and 'Could Be Better'. A green arrow button is on the right. Below the covers is a 'Books read' totaliser showing '10'. An envelope icon is labeled 'c'. The bottom right corner has a red 'X' button.
