

Foreword by John West, Chair of Connect Education Trust

One of the most important duties I oversee as Chair of Trustees is to ensure that we have a robust recruitment process, which attracts the very best people to our schools' Local Governing Bodies.

As in any successful organisation, ultimately it is the people who make the biggest difference. That is why I consider it a privilege to be at the helm when recruiting new trustees to the Board and new members to our Local Governing Bodies in our schools.

It is important that we recruit people who individually bring their own skills and expertise, and who together, provide a diversity of perspectives to ensure that we are representative of the communities we serve.

Being a Member of a Local Governing Body is an immensely rewarding role and one which carries with it great trust and pride. If this is something which may be of interest to you, please read the following information below, look at the Connect and the specific school's websites to find out more about us. Also feel free to ring the school's Headteacher to find out more.
